

Constitution and Citizenship Day

Each year, Southeastern Community College celebrates Constitution and Citizenship Day on September 17th (if it occurs on the weekend, the workday closest to the date). In 2007, the theme for the celebration was the Four Freedoms. Students had an opportunity to complete a Constitution Quiz for prizes; a debate was held between a faculty member and a student on the Four Freedoms; a superior court judge, Marion Warren taped a show on EDU Cable on the Four Freedoms which was broadcast during that week; and Constitution exhibit was on display in the library.

The event is handled by the Vice President of Student Development Services.
