

Alternative Assessment – Communication: Writing

Outcome: The student will demonstrate competency in writing based on the assessment rubric.

What will the student do: The student will be given the English Common Examination from the previous semester. The student will write the assessment in the ASL.

Materials Needed: The student will be given the rubric and the articles the exam will be based on prior to the administering of the examination, preferably one week.

Other Information: The Chair of College Transitions and General Education will arrange for the assessment to be read by two members from the English faculty. If the two members do not agree on the final assessment evaluation, the chair will ask for a third reader.
